

Board of Trustees

Supervisory Framework

Hotelschool The Hague

Introduction

This Board of Trustees Supervisory Framework describes how the Board of Directors activities are monitored and which substantive principles underlie this process. The framework differentiates between formal supervision, i.e. supervision within the context of governance, and policy content supervision, namely the monitoring of the quality of education, research and valorisation.

Supervision principles

The Board of Trustees' basic aim is to reach the conclusion that the Hotelschool's Board of Directors is effectively managing the process of achieving the strategic objectives, the quality of education and research, the effective use of people and resources, and the Hotelschool's continuity. It is important to identify risks early on so that they can be adequately managed in a timely fashion.

Hotelschool The Hague is characterised by its strong international focus, orientation and reputation. Hotelschool The Hague forms part of the Dutch public higher education system. The Board of Trustees considers it its task to ensure that the resources which society and students have made available to the Hotelschool are used in a responsible manner.

The Board of Trustees has a proactive attitude, with respect for, and trust in, the professionalism of the members of the Board of Directors, faculty and staff members. When conducting supervisory activities, the Board of Trustees always takes the Hotelschools' specific situation into account. In certain situations, the Board of Trustees functions as a sparring partner, at other moments it may be necessary to intensify its supervisory role. The Board of Trustees will always promote and support the Board of Directors ability to stay in control. The Board of Trustees, together with the Board of Directors, ensures the provision of up-to-date, timely and relevant information. This applies to meetings, but also in the case of emergencies, and/or acute financial or legal problems, serious complaints regarding the education and research quality, or any other publicity which could damage the Hotelschools' reputation.

The Board of Trustees has adopted a definition of quality for the education and research which is shared with the Board of Directors and disseminated to faculty, staff and the students. The definition has to lead to observable and objective facts:

The definition of quality is the extent to which the Hotelschool fulfils its promises to the student and the professional field. This implies that students learn a great deal during their studies and are able to get off to a good start in their professional careers, or successfully continue their studies at a higher level. Our quality also encompasses the fact that our students enjoy their study and will act as the Hotelschool's ambassadors for the rest of their lives. For the professional field this implies that they view our graduates as professionals and will gladly employ them thanks to their usable, practical knowledge. This is achieved through a combination of education and research designed to fulfil the needs of professional practice, providing an integral connection with the international field.

The Board of Trustees reflects on the following questions:

1. Wherein lies the quality of our school?
2. Does the Hotelschool achieve the quality we aim for?
3. How does the Hotelschool make the quality visible?
4. Is this image shared by students and the professional field?
5. Which actions can be taken in response to information acquired about our quality?

Appendix 1 provides an overview of the supervision in relation to governance, as well as the quality of education and research.
